Discussion and agreements:

- We spoke about how busy we are going to be this week due to Operating Systems and that we are all going to be extremely busy next week due to it being the week where a few midterms fall on for all of us.
- We also discussed our Deliverable 2, mostly that we improved on getting that completed relative to the last deliverable. So, we were very happy with that and want to continue applying the same methodology to the future deliverables
- We discussed the deadline for D.3 Analysis and are planning accordingly so we can finish that in a timely manner.

Some goals we have for upcoming weeks:

- We are once again going to be figuring out and planning the finer details.
- We want to create a UML for the bot as we think it will be good practice.
- We want to get going on creating the first bot.
- Continue updating Trello when need be.
- Really we all are going to be quite busy with exams but will dedicate time to pick at D.3 Analysis
